Recycle your pharmaceuticals. The Ocean Conservancy and Boomerang Alliance are partnering to distribute free surgical masks and N-95 respirators to health care providers in American Samoa, Samoa, Guam, and the Northern Mariana Islands, as a result of the crisis caused by the pandemic of coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19). The MaskBox is designed to distribute these essential personal protective equipment (PPE) to health care providers in the U.S. and the Pacific Islands. The MaskBox is a convenient, reusable device that holds up to 100 surgical masks or 250 N-95 respirators, and is perfect for both hospitals and clinics as well as household use. What we learned Can I participate? No! Only health care workers and first responders will be receiving the MaskBox. How do I get one? Sign up here. The MaskBox is designed to be used as a post-disaster aid in response to disaster or crises. We will work with relief and recovery organizations to determine which areas of the US and the Pacific Islands are affected, and we will distribute to those areas first. What if I don't have any medical supplies? We can't distribute supplies to people without medical supply needs. If you'd like to participate, you can make a tax-deductible donation to the Ocean Conservancy or to your local provider in the affected areas. Please continue reading for more information on how you can help. What do I need to know before participating? This campaign is made possible by the generosity of the community of consumers and donors of the Ocean Conservancy. To best serve our supporters, we request that you sign up through the Ocean Conservancy instead of Boomerang Alliance. Can I donate cash instead of supplies? No! Donations of cash will not be accepted for this effort. We will be donating to organizations in the affected areas for those with medical supply needs. Will I be getting shipped supplies? No! This is a donation drive; we will be collecting supplies and shipping them directly to the people in the impacted areas. 2d92ce491b
