I then noticed they had a new version which I thought I should download instead of the old 4.0. So I downloaded that version. My issue now is that I no longer have the option in my Lightroom drop-down window that shows 4.0, 4.0.1 or 4.0.2. I'm now stuck with version 5.2.1. Is there anyway to update? I have my "old" copy which was downloaded in 2012. I noticed some emails that show 3.0.3 but only the 5.2.1 is showing up in the drop down list. Please help. Thank you. p.s. No Adobe site is working on my computer. adbradford 09-11-2012, 09:25 PM Sorry, I missed the first part of this post. Simply download the original version from Lightroom, 4.0 There are two copies, 4.0.0 and 4.0.1, all download at once: The main download is the LR4 folder. The LR4.1 folder, a read only version, is there to update to LR4.1 without deleting the 4.0 folder. You should have the original version now. Lightroom.3 09-13-2012, 08:05 AM Thank you for the responses. I am working in Windows 7. I went to the "adobe" website to try and download it but I couldn't find it. I'm very frustrated. I did see the 4.0 version. 09-13-2012, 09:56 AM Then I went to the Lightroom download site which is located here: Then I found the version 4.0 there but didn't see it in my "my downloads" window. So I thought I had the wrong version but then I saw another version with 4.0.1. The 4.0.1 folder is where it should be but it is not showing up in the "my downloads" window on Adobe. 09-13-2012, 10:02 AM Lightroom.3,
