Category:Video editing software have a TVA-driven power source. With added costs, the utility rates rise. A study of the state of Alabama found that removing nuclear power costs customers in that state $3.6 billion over the first five years. Back in the 1940s, the U.S. government was the leader in nuclear energy research and development. But the industry became almost entirely government-owned, and today, the nuclear industry is almost completely foreign-owned. “Today, the most popular joke about nuclear power is that the only person who wants to use it is the U.S. taxpayer,” Markey said. The Trump administration recently finished its own nuclear program review that eventually concluded that the United States should build 20 nuclear reactors over the next 15 years. Some of those plants could begin operating by 2028. But the Trump administration’s own assessment was much more modest than the Markey bill. “It is important to note that the Trump administration’s plan for increasing the nuclear fleet by 20 percent is half the size of the Markey legislation,” Cate Edmondson, senior director of energy and climate policy at the Center for American Progress, wrote in a blog post. “And the administration’s plan would build just four reactors, compared to the six reactors that Markey’s bill would build.” Pete Wentzell, the president and chief executive of the Nuclear Energy Institute, an industry trade group, said a boost in nuclear power is still needed but it should be delayed until the emissions trading market is stable. “We believe a gradual increase in the number of nuclear plants is a prudent and practical approach, especially with the strong performance of new nuclear power over the last two years,” he said. Marcia McNutt, president of the Natural Resources Defense Council, an environmental group, said the new Trump administration has been slow to do something about climate change but at least they’re moving forward on nuclear energy. “If there is no change, if we don’t pass this bill, the status quo of dirty energy will stay in place, and we will not make progress at all,” she said. Without the Markey bill, McNutt worries that major emitters of carbon dioxide — such as the oil and gas industry and the chemical industry — could gain market share by not investing in 2d92ce491b
