How to Use Arena Simulation Arena Simulation is an application that has 3 parts, the Arena Simulator, Forge and Arena Simulation Manager. The Arena Simulator is used to build and edit our worlds in Arena Simulation. Forge is a block-based building and game creation tool that is used for both creating, testing and controlling our worlds. The Arena Simulation Manager is used to start, stop and add worlds to Arena Simulation. The Arena Simulation Manager can be accessed by pressing the Ctrl-Spacebar key combination. Here is how to start Arena Simulation using the Arena Simulation Manager. Choose an Arena Simulation game from the options menu using the Play selection under the Game section. To start Arena Simulation in Arena Simulation Manager or Forge, press the Play key. To stop Arena Simulation in Arena Simulation Manager or Forge press the Stop key. To quit Arena Simulation Manager or Forge press the Exit key. To view your current worlds in Arena Simulation using the Forge or Arena Simulation Manager, click on the Homes tab at the top of the screen. To create a new world press the Create Worlds option in the Forge or Arena Simulation Manager. To enter Arena Simulation click on one of the workspace to enter Arena Simulation. After launching Forge or Arena Simulation, the creation of a new world starts as shown in the video below. This is how to create a world and make the first build in Forge. To create a world, we need to first construct an area. To do this, choose a terrain of your choice. We will go ahead and use a grassy, rocky, and dry desert terrain. Once we have chosen a terrain type for our world, we need to choose our dimensions and terrain type. We will set the dimensions of the world
