Features The following features are available in AutoCAD: 3D Models 3D designs can be created in AutoCAD. This can be done by dragging and dropping geometry or by creating a 3D model. CAD drawings can be created from a 2D sketch or from existing CAD drawings. Drawing History Autodesk drawing history records the history of the geometric relationships between entities. These geometric relationships are called entities. An entity can be defined by a user, an object, a layer, or a block. Entities can also be inherited. Entities can have attributes that change depending on the properties of other entities. Entity Definition A user-defined entity is defined by placing entities or the properties of entities on a 2D drawing surface. Entity properties can be modified by selecting an entity and typing a new property name and value. Entity Extensions Entities can be assigned names that define their purpose. For example, a 2D sketch entity can be named "Sketch_2D" and then referenced in a drawing. Entity Manager The Entity Manager displays information about entities. Examples of information that can be viewed by the Entity Manager include the following: Entity Definition A description of the entity can be viewed by the Entity Manager. Color and Stroke A description of the entity can be viewed by the Entity Manager. Parent Entity The entity that is the parent of this entity. Entity Actions Entities can be invoked, which causes functions to be executed. For example, the "Open" function can be invoked when an entity is selected to view the entity properties. Entity Options The properties of an entity can be defined and adjusted by selecting an entity and selecting the Entity Options option from the Entity Properties toolbar. Entity Information The Entity Information panel displays a diagram of the geometric relationships between entities. Entities can be dragged and dropped to reorganize their placement on the diagram. When an entity is dragged and dropped, the properties of that entity are updated. Layer Options The properties of the layers can be defined and adjusted. These properties include the following: Layers Show/Hide the layers on the current drawing.

The lawsuit had been filed by Ram Jethmalani, a renowned lawyer and close aide of Mr. Modi’s. The couple had sought about Rs. 90 lakh as damages. During the court hearing, Mr. Modi’s lawyers argued that their client’s name, photographs and addresses were publicly available. They said that his case could not be used as an example of a woman’s harassment and sought to bar all the proceedings in the case. However, senior advocate Dushyant Dave argued that a political leader who has been criticized for his alleged misuse of power should not be able to use such a “cloak” to protect his reputation. “If a woman works in a public office, and if she is against the leader, should the leader be able to use the cloak of the office to harass her?,” he asked. D.A. Vachha, another senior lawyer involved in the case, said that if the judgment went against the complainant, “the entire system of law” would be put under question. “I have an apprehension that in the larger scheme of things, the decision of this case will affect the entire right of women to obtain justice,” he said. Mr. Modi’s supporters were celebrating on the streets of Ahmedabad, Mr. Vachha said, while the opposition parties and the Congress were trying to “establish a moral justification” for the decision. The decision is likely to add fuel to the ongoing debate about Mr. Modi’s leadership of the country. A strong supporter of the Prime Minister, Mr. Jethmalani had described the Gujarat chief minister as an “efficient administrator” and “first among equals.” In a speech at the Jaipur Literary Festival in January, he said that he would defend Mr. Modi against allegations of
