A simple and intuitive note-taking application that can be used on almost any computer. No configuration required! Configuration: A simple interface with a setting to disable autohide. It also provides a setting to open the note with Ctrl+H (a.k.a. Windows+H). Features: - Easy note writing and editing with an intuitive interface. - Autohide note. - Notepad-like note size and writing positions. - A small footprint. - Minimal memory footprint. - It creates a shortcut to the desktop on exit and loads it on next launch. - The notes are saved at exit, along with the option for automatic loading at next launch. - It automatically saves the note with the last name before exit and the last access time at exit. - It remembers the size and vertical position on exit and loads them at next launch. - You can pin the note window to the left side of the screen. - You can adjust its vertical size, thereby keeping it proportional to the display's. - You can resize it horizontally, although it's not proportional. - You can make multiple notes and add as many as you like. - Its name can be changed through a context menu to represent what's going on in the note. Compatibility: Windows Vista, Windows 7, Windows XP SP2, Windows 8 and Windows 10. save2jpeg is a small command-line utility for converting pictures from any file type to jpeg format. It lets you choose a format, and it allows you to specify a root folder to save the pictures into with a specified number of jpeg's. save2jpeg is especially handy when you want to save a batch of pictures for anything like a group photo or your personal online gallery. save2jpeg is compatible with the following image formats: bmp gif jpeg jpe (JPEG Little Endian) jfif (JPEG File Interchange Format) jfif-lite (JPEG File Interchange Format) pcx png tiff enables you to resume suspended transactions with just the click of a mouse. You can view a summary of all transactions, add new activities, pause any of your suspended transactions, and delete them if you like. Jpeekaboo Serial Number Full Torrent jpeekaboo is a simple-to-use application designed in Java, which enables you to seamlessly write notes on the desktop to keep track of important information, such as tasks, meetings, birthdays, or vacations. It comes bundled with a small set of options that can be configured with ease by all types of users, even the ones inexperienced with note-taking utilities. No setup required, besides Java. As long as you have Java on your machine, you don't have to install anything else. The whole program's wrapped in just one file that can be copied to a preferred directory on the disk or to a removable storage unit to directly run the application on any PC with Java. It doesn't have any other software requirements, integrate new entries into the system registry, or create new files on the disk. Write and autohide notes to carry on with your typical PC activity. Once fired up, jpeekaboo creates an icon in the system tray to facilitate quick access to its configuration settings. A blank note with a yellow background is displayed on the right side of the screen, which hides when not in focus. To bring it back, you just have to move the cursor to the right margin. By holding down the Ctrl button while double-clicking (either left or right click) on any part of the note, you can disable autohide. If you hold down the Ctrl button again and move the cursor to the left margin, it's possible to horizontally resize the note. Set the note size and on-screen position. There is no context menu available within the notes, nor are there any customization options related to the text or background. However, you can pin the main window to the left side of the screen instead of the right, as well as adjust the vertical size, which is relative to the screen's dimensions. The notes along with the settings for the pinning side and vertical size are remembered on exit and loaded at the next launch. However, the horizontal size is disregarded. Visit: I've recently installed jpeekaboo on my mac, and it is wonderful. It is fairly easy to use, and the interface is very intuitive. It keeps my notes visible as long as the computer is running, and I can easily drag them around the screen. Of course, you can change where the notes are displayed, but it defaults to the right side of the desktop when you start a note. I 09e8f5149f
