DiskAlarm Crack [32|64bit]

DiskAlarm is a lightweight Windows utility built specifically for helping users monitor their hard drive temperature. Since this is a portable program, it is important to mention that it doesn[1]t leave any traces in the Windows Registry. You can copy it on any USB flash drive or other devices, and take it with you whenever you need to check the temperature of your hard drive on the fly, without having to go through installation steps. DiskAlarm sports a clean and straightforward layout that allows you to set up the dedicated parameters with minimum effort. Basically, it proves to be extremely easy to work with this tool, as it automatically displays the current temperature of the hard drive. What[1]s more, you are allowed to set up alarms by specifying a user-defined temperature value. When the hard drive temperature exceeds the given value, the tool plays sound notifications and highlights the temperature with red. When it comes to configuration settings, you can select the unit of measurement, enable or disable the sound notifications, make the utility remain on top of other applications[1], switch to a full screen mode, and stop the alarm. Additionally, you can choose between different preset sounds or open an audio item from the computer (WAV), run a user-defined process when the alarm starts, save the log to a file, as well as check a graph which contains details about the temperature over a specific period of time. All things considered, DiskAlarm offers a simple software solution when it comes to helping you keep an eye on your hard drive temperature. What's New In DiskAlarm?

DiskAlarm is a utility designed to help users monitor the temperature of their hard drives, including how much time it has been running at different temperatures. This program is designed to be used as a sound-alarm when the temperature of the disk has exceeded a certain point. Simply enter the temperature in degrees Celsius, the time value in seconds, and the program will ring in an alarm if the temperature is above the given alarm point and sound the alarm. You can then set the temp alarm to start at any time and stop after a certain time period. The DiskAlarm will also show you how long the hard drive has been running at the same temperature and when it will start running at the new temperature. You can also set whether your DiskAlarm will start when your computer starts or not.
