Some online video services allow users to consume a video stream or a video clip from a beginning point to an end point via a video player or a web browser. Other online video services may allow users to create a video clip by selecting from a large library of pre-created video clips, and the online video service may then host the video clip for the user. Video hosting websites may allow a user to submit a video clip and/or a video stream. In some cases, a video host may also be responsible for generating an advertising overlay to include in a video clip or video stream that is hosted by the video host. The advertising overlay may include a text-based advertisement, an image-based advertisement, a video advertisement, etc. A user may be charged a fee by a video host for accessing a video clip or video stream hosted by the video host. The fee may be increased when an advertising overlay is included in a video clip or video stream hosted by the video host

What's New In?

This library is a small collection of 96 well designed icons, which can be used for various purposes in your apps. It includes icons for various feature like Settings, Edit, Navigation, Action, Search, Refresh, and Notification in both a light and dark theme. The icons are provided in 24x24, 48x48, 64x64, and 96x96. Each one is best optimized for the corresponding image size. They have been designed in accordance with the Android design guidelines. This project can be used as a reference library to create your own set of beautiful icons, but keep in mind that the best way to deliver the best results is to use the existing icon pack provided in the Android platform. You can copy and paste these icons in your project. Use with the aim to create a brand new set of good looking icons that helps user to differentiate between different categories of your application.
