Connect to Network File and Folder Sharing Facility enables you to configure and perform file and folder sharing with other Windows PCs on the network. The program includes a number of common options, as well as advanced ones allowing you to perform advanced network tasks, such as Remote Access and Remote Shrink. The software installs a networking service that provides the necessary information to Windows PCs in your local network to share access to your files and folders through a simple network share. Remote Access and Remote ShrinkThe built-in Setup Wizard enables you to configure Network File and Folder Sharing Facility with a single click, offering you to select the services to be installed and shared, as well as to configure some basic options, such as a share name and password. The Advanced Sharing Options window allows you to configure advanced sharing settings, such as disabling annoying initial messages, blocking unwanted sharing requests, allowing network-based opening of shares and various other options. To perform remote access and remote sharing operations, the setup wizard allows you to configure File and Folder Sharing facility to work as a proxy. To prevent your computer from becoming a resource hog and to free up scarce RAM when the PC is idle, the software features options to disable idle applications, shutdown features and background tasks.

Network File and Folder Sharing Facility enables you to connect to servers and shares in networks that are far away. It includes the ability to configure secured shares on remote servers, as well as the ability to access shares on remote servers through a folder or file. You can easily share folders or files from your computer to other systems through a network folder or share. By using a simple directory path, you can access your files on remote systems and open them up. If the specified path is a network share, you can even access folders on a remote server through a file or folder. Network File and Folder Sharing Facility enables administrators to configure advanced tasks: remote access, remote shrinking, file encryption and sharing, and setting up user accounts to access shares. SPS1 SPS1 is a text file format that can be used to encode and decode text in XML format. It is designed to keep the data in a database together with the document data. The structure of a SPS file allows for the easy integration of other data sources, such as structure files, desktop icons, document metadata and web resources. The XML format is a set of tags that define the structure of the data and the encoding rules, which allow for ease of data interchange. The file encoding is based on a text encoding algorithm. Data can be tagged with tags, which can be supplemented with comments and other tags. Label Creator Label Creator simplifies the creation of labels and gives you the ability to create and print labels and posters in any format. It also allows you to create files that can be printed from office and home printers. Label Creator also is an excellent candidate for creating data files that can be exchanged among Microsoft Office applications and other desktop software programs. Label Create Label Create is a cost-effective option for creating your own labels. The program simplifies the creation of labels and provides you with ready-to-print files that can be printed from your desktop printer. LabelMania LabelMania is an advanced Windows utility that combines functions of a printer-specific labeller, a label maker, and a desktop organizer. In addition, it comes with a unique feature for the more advanced users – a Page Splitter that allows you to create a new image
