Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a liquid crystal display (LCD) device, and more particularly, to an LCD device capable of minimizing manufacturing costs and enhancing a yield by preventing an overlay error of a gate line and a data line. 2. Discussion of the Related Art Generally, the LCD device includes an LCD panel displaying an image by controlling a light transmittance of a liquid crystal and a backlight assembly for emitting light to the LCD panel. The LCD panel includes a thin film transistor (TFT) formed with a switching function for driving a pixel, a signal line connected to the thin film transistor for transmitting a signal to the thin film transistor, and a pixel electrode connected to the thin film transistor and receiving the signal from the thin film transistor. The pixel electrode is formed in a light-blocking region of the pixel. Each of the thin film transistors is connected to a gate line for applying a scan signal and a data line for applying a data signal. The backlight assembly includes a light source driving a plurality of light emitting diodes and a plurality of light guide plates guiding the light emitted from the plurality of light emitting diodes toward the LCD panel. Herein, a gate line, which is connected to a drain electrode of a thin film transistor and extends in a row direction, and a data line, which is connected to a source electrode
