We've all heard about the last year's global economic crisis. A pandemic of zombies and an internal crisis at Apple may have distracted you, but that does not mean there are no threats to your personal security. The fall of the global economy, the rise of the zombies and your private data being used by companies with little concern for you are real threats to your personal safety. The information presented in this post will help you overcome these threats. The fall of the global economy The most important reason to buy a laptop is the fact that it is portable. The more weight a laptop has, the more it is not convenient to carry it. If you carry a laptop with you in your pocket all the time, it will affect your back. Because of the situation of the global economy, there is more likely to be a serious crisis. When you need to have your laptop or smartphone on you all the time, you will need to buy a heavy one. The rise of the zombies In recent years, the advent of the zombies has been rumored all over the world. All of them are the undead, and only use their human brains to eat human brains. In fact, zombies have been infecting people's brains and have started to gain the ability to speak, move and think like human beings. The zombies have started to surround us and become more and more dangerous. The existence of the zombies has been verified by our military, and the intelligence agencies have learned some of their information. If you are a victim of the zombie outbreak, you will be bitten by the zombies, and become one of them. You may even become a leader of the zombies. Therefore, if you want to survive the zombie outbreak, you should know how to protect yourself from the zombies. How to survive the zombie outbreak · As far as you can remember, your parents have always talked to you about the importance of good health. · For example, they told you to eat well and exercise. · When the time comes, you should pay more attention to your health. · This is because you can not do anything without it. · Therefore, you should always carry some basic items with you, such as food, water and first aid kit. · If you get to know about a town that is known to be infected with zombies, keep your guard up. · However, do not worry about
