If you're looking for an alternative to the paid version, Photoshop Elements is a convenient option. Why should I consider Adobe Photoshop Elements? Photoshop Elements is a free alternative to traditional Photoshop. It is a graphics editor with a simple user interface and fewer features compared to the professional version. There are no subscription fees, however, Photoshop Elements is a completely free and open source program, which means it's free of any EULAs, proprietary code or fees. The Express version of Photoshop Elements is able to edit layers, which includes editing and transforming the shapes inside layers. The Standard version of Photoshop Elements does not allow you to edit layers. Adobe Photoshop Elements has a simple interface and faster startup times. Unlike Photoshop CC, Elements doesn't have an Adobe Creative Cloud subscription. It comes in a single package, which makes it cheaper and easier to obtain. If you're looking for something lightweight and free, Adobe Photoshop Elements is a great option. Learn more about Adobe Photoshop Elements. Genetic Variation in the Association Between Alzheimer's Disease and Comorbidity. Several studies have investigated the association of Alzheimer's disease (AD) and various comorbidities. However, genetic associations of AD and comorbidities are still unknown. We conducted the first genome-wide association study (GWAS) of AD in European populations, including two separate case-control series and the Rotterdam Study population-based cohort. The association between AD and 10 known comorbidities, including diabetes, hypertension, and myocardial infarction (MI), was assessed. The association between AD and 10 measured diseases/syndromes was assessed with clinical AD diagnosis and/or AD diagnoses reported in a medical record. For both AD and comorbidities, we estimated the joint effect of AD and each comorbidity on MI, hypertension, and diabetes. We also included body mass index and history of smoking as cofactors. The comorbidity-AD associations were replicated with imputed GWAS data from the Lothian Birth Cohort 1936 Study and the UK Biobank. As previously reported, AD was associated with insulin resistance (odds ratio [OR], 1.17; 95% confidence interval [CI], 1.08-1.27; $P = 1.88 \times 10^{-4}$) and MI (OR, 1.17; 95% CI, 1.09-1.27; $P = 3.91 \times 10^{-5}$), but did not associate with AD-hypertension (OR, 0.95; 95% CI, 0.83-1.08; $P = 0.41$) or AD-diabetes (OR, 1.09; 95% CI, 0.95-1.24; $P = 0.24$) measures. We identified a novel association between AD and increased risk of cerebrovascular disease (OR, 1.15; 95% CI, 1.07-1.24; $P = 3.24 \times 10^{-5}$), for which we found replication in UK Biobank and Lothian Birth Cohort 1936 data. Our study highlights the association between AD and cerebrovascular disease, a finding with additional support in Lothian Birth Cohort 1936 and UK Biobank.
