This feature is made possible with Matchday Motion Capture, a new motion capture technology that enables gameplay sequences to be recorded in real-time in a way previously undreamt of by the industry. During a full gameplay sequence there are numerous new and exciting things that happen in the simulation. Players dart past, weave through defenders and respond to AI crowd lines to come out for goal-kicks. Players move in and out of the goal, giving a new depth to the goalkeeper. The keeper dives in all the time, too, and dives a little deeper than before with the new reactive, goal-kicker equipped with the hyper-responsive goalkeeper engine. Reactive players, even in their defensive starting positions, move into open positions and get into positions that are ideal for goal-kicks. The new Goalkeeper, who reacts in real-time to how the player moves and hits the ball, reduces the time wasted on players going back to their starting positions, but more importantly, they are all able to start with the ball, not just in the first three lines of each corner. There is a new Endline area of the field, which grants the goalkeeper a new feel for how the pitch is aligned. "The Reactive goalkeeper is very different to the last year," said Alexei Eremenko, Head of Gameplay. "The goalkeeper is a much more reactive player to the player. He reacts to the player's location in the same way that the player reacts to the goalkeeper. It's a much more connected and fluid player." Goalkeepers have improved awareness. Players now dive for the ball earlier and are more proactive as well. The first touch is tighter with the back to goal so that the first touch is never taken against opponents, it is always taken to have a better first touch. "First touch can make a huge difference in the game," said Eremenko. "Last year with my career mode goalkeeper, I was having a really hard time saving at times. I found that as you get closer to goal it's less of a problem to save, and with this year's goalkeeper I find that it's a much better marriage between the goalkeeper and the ball than before." The Reactive goalkeeper also reacts differently when the first touch on the ball is taken against the goalkeeper. This is

FIFA is the world's most popular sports video game series, with more than 80 million copies sold. FIFA is also the top-selling sports video game franchise on all platforms. In FIFA, players experience the authentic emotion and drama of the world's greatest athletes, teams and tournaments through stunning visuals, authentic sports gameplay and breath-taking atmospherics. FIFA is developed by EA Canada. This title includes online features that allow you to compete with and against real players online or invite up to 32 of your friends to form a squad with you, either in single player offline mode or in drop-in, drop-out, online multiplayer modes. The FIFA video game series dates back to 1991, when EA Sports created the first ever video game version of the sport. As the original, fans have been waiting patiently for a title that accurately reflects the sport of football (soccer). Powered by Football™, FIFA 22 brings the game even closer to the real thing with fundamental gameplay advances and a new season of innovation across every mode. Players will be able to start and run freely at will, move and perform as naturally as possible. They will be able to tackle, jostle, dribble past and beat opponents by pressing the run button and moving the stick left or right. As players lead runs with the run button, they will be able to perform tricks and feints, spin on the ball and even execute a movement that stops in its track, the ability to feint the player and pass around him or her. This gives the player more control of the ball and allows the player to control the ball much more naturally. Players will be able to create chances using the short and long pass, hit a long pass around the defender, hold the defender with the ball, offload the ball, and even execute a technique that transitions the ball to another player after it was passed and no longer physically in the possession of the first player. A new system will also allow players to send the ball in more vertical direction, create space for a run, or send a diagonal cross. It would then be more realistic to take a shot from a certain angle. This innovation comes at the cost of passing accuracy and is aimed at increasing scoring and creating opportunities for shots. FIFA’s physics engine has also been updated, with the goal of lowering the chance of injuries. Players are now more likely to receive a high tackle if they are not able to avoid it. Players will also be more bc9d6d6daa
