The aim of this study was to develop an electrospray ionization mass spectrometry (ESI-MS) method for the quantification of glucose in urine. The ionization properties of glutathione, phosphate, urea and a urea-phosphate complex were optimized, and limits of detection (LODs) and quantification (LOQs) between 11.9 and 80.7 nmol L<sup>-1</sup> were obtained with relative standard deviations between 0.8 and 4.6%. The urea-phosphate complex was chosen for its minimal co-elution with glucose, the internal standard, in human urine. The method was applied to urine samples collected from healthy volunteers. Differences between the concentrations measured by ESI-MS were statistically significant between subjects with high glucose concentrations (n = 26) and those with low glucose concentrations (n = 23) (p Q: How to add class to default active menu tab On my footer of the Wordpress theme i have a menu that includes several menu links, most of them with sub-menu.
