*In-Place or On-Canvas Text You can do many things with text. Type a text into the canvas (it's always on-canvas), change the font, size, color, etc., and then hit the Commit button. The text will be displayed just like it was on the original document. You can type or draw text on the document itself, as well. *A Pattern Brush You can use a pattern brush to apply a pattern to a layer. The tool is very flexible and can create patterns that are perfect for adding borders or backgrounds to a text box. You can even use it to place patterns on objects and make them blend with the original object, adding another layer of realistic depth to your document. You can also create your own brushes using a pattern called a.pat file, which is found on the disc that came with the program. You can open this file in Photoshop and use it as a starting place for creating patterns. Shapes are a bitmap graphic. A file can be made up of just text, or it can be a photograph, an object, a logo, etc. You can put a shape into any layer and make it transparent or visible, depending on your needs. Like text, you can move, resize, and even duplicate shapes. *Layers A layer is a place for you to keep objects on-canvas. A layer is similar to the concept of pages in a book, with pages being layers. You can move, resize, and modify layers. *Blend Modes Layers don't have to be opaque. You can create a layer in which a portion of the entire layer is transparent. The color in the area where the layer is transparent is called the color blend. Blend modes allow you to blend the color of a layer with the color of another layer. While in the Layers palette, you can switch between different blend modes by selecting one or the other from the Blend Mode drop-down menu. The following settings are available for blend modes: * Overlay * Color Burn * Color Dodge * Difference * Lighten * Multiply * Screen * Darken * Soft Light * Hard Light * Vivid Light * Difference Light * Linear Burn * Linear Dodge * Linear Light * Pin Light * Pin Dark *Adding Fill Using a layer style
