The “HyperMotion” technology works at a frame-by-frame resolution, and captures real-life player movements within a fraction of a second. Players’ precise movements are tracked in the skin and made visible in the game. This provides a more immersive and interactive experience that results in a more realistic gaming experience. In-game, everything from player positioning, ball control, ball runs, and tackles are all powered by real-life player data, all while remaining physics based. The technology expands the possibilities of how teams defend, attack and create chances for their attackers. This content is presented only to active Ultimate Rewards members.
